A Message From Fr. Tom

Dwelling in Advent

Advent starts on December 1st. Advent is the season that marks the beginning of the church year, and it is a time, as you know, when the faithful are invited to prepare for the birth of Jesus.

This is my second Advent at Trinity. I am excited to let you know that we've got some great things planned this year, including an activity with the Community Garden, an evening of lessons and carols, some time to be together in the middle of the week to pray and have fun and do something for our shut-ins, greening the church, and some other wonderful activities. It all builds up to our celebration of Christmas Eve at 7:00pm on December 24, and Christmas Day at 10:00am.

One of the things I am most excited about is exploring the four themes of Advent. These themes are Hope, Peace, Joy and Love. Each week during Advent, we will light one of the candles on the Advent wreath and celebrate one of these themes. We will discuss that theme in the Holy Curiosity meeting before church and will be part of our common prayers and my weekly reflection.

My hope is that you will feel encouraged to dwell in Hope, Peace, Joy and Love this month. Our faith encourages us not just to dwell in the rush of Christmas shopping, but to find encouragement to dwell in the holy. Here's what we will hear at church:

- Be awake, Jesus says on the first week of Advent. Do not dwell in the worries of this life. Your redemption draws near.
- Take off your garments of sorrow and affliction, says our second week of Advent. Do not dwell in these things but dwell forever in the beauty of the glory of God.
- Do not rest just in your self satisfaction and righteousness, says the third week of Advent. Dwell in the baptism of Jesus which will come with power and in justice.
- Be prepared to live, says the fourth week of Advent, not as you have lived, but live in the power of the child who is to come. He has done great things for us. He is merciful and strong, and he is here to lift the lowly and fill the hungry and remember us all with his mercy. Dwell in him.

These are great messages, and I look forward to exploring them with you week by week this December, and seeing how we might make Jesus our place to dwell, with his hope as a habitation for our hearts, his peace a gentle place for our minds to rest, his Joy an Advent home we can return to again and again, and his love leading us into his birth at Christmas.

God bless you, Happy Advent.

I hope to see you in church,

Tom+

Advent Preparations

The Giving Tree - December 1st

On December 1st, the first Sunday in Advent, the Giving Tree will again be found in the narthex of the church. This has been a Trinity tradition for many years. Here's how it works.

The tree is decorated with "ornaments", each one has an item that is needed by the people who depend on Interfaith Community Services printed on it. You can choose an item, take the ornament home and bring that item back. The gifts are NOT to be wrapped, as they are not Christmas presents. Just place them under the tree. If there is a need to designate who it is appropriate for, please label it ... such as: men, women, children, for the home, etc. You will find that there are many inexpensive things like toothbrushes and razors, socks and underwear, as well as mid-range things like basic home supplies and maybe a few cleaning supplies. You can also attach the ornament tag to the item. Every year we are thrilled at the response to this program. The ornaments are refreshed now and then too, if you want to give more. Many thanks in advance for your generosity.

The Greening of the Church - December 8th After Church

Trinity has beautiful Christmas decorations, but it takes many hands to get it all set up. We will have a "Greening of the church" event after church on Sunday, December 8th. We will get all the boxes down from the attic, set up the big Christmas tree, decorate the windows and the choir loft railing and put wreaths on the pulpit and lectern. Last but not least is setting up the lovely manger scene in front of the altar. Last year we got all of this done in just over an hour, with the help of many folks. We especially need a few younger people to help carry the stuff down from upstairs. This is a lot of fun, and we see the church transform. Please consider helping us out. We know what to do, so just show up and we'll happily give you a job. It would be helpful if you can let Marilyn on the Altar Guild or David in the choir know if you are attending so we can plan it all out. Of course...we have to put it all away after church on January 5th, so some help then would be greatly appreciated too.

The Advent Procession of Lessons & Carols - December 15th at 7:00pm

The mysterious and very moving service of music and Advent lessons is a tradition of Anglican churches throughout the world. It has been a staple of our Trinity Advent season for the past twenty years.

The service begins in total darkness with an ancient call to worship sung by the choir and followed by a candlelight procession around the church. As the lessons are read music is interspersed and the lights gradually begin to come on. This year the choir will sing music from many different periods and will be accompanied by piano, organ and with Annette Rico playing the violin. The service ends with a nice, big Magnificat. There are places where the congregation participates as well. This is the perfect way to "keep calm and carry on" and to prepare in a meaningful way for the coming of Christmas. Do try to attend AND ... bring a friend to share with them just how special Trinity is. The service lasts about an hour and twenty minutes.

What Is That Book Doing In the Columbarium?

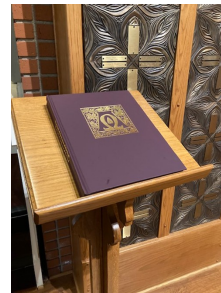

Have you noticed a book suddenly appeared in the columbarium? What is it doing there?

This book is called a Necrology - a book of the dead. Specifically, this book is a list of names ordered by month and day of all the people who have had services connected to Trinity. The names were pulled from the burial records and entered in this new order. Trinity has records going back to 1908.

Some names are only partial because that is how they were recorded or because that was all that could be written down due to illegibility. Some names are missing as they were simply recorded as “infant” with a last name. Some names appear in pairs on the same date or near the same date. There are untold stories in these names.

The Necrology is open to today’s date and is available so you can pray for those who have gone before. We may not know all their stories, but they were all part of this community of Trinity.

Souper-Bowl Sunday Collection Continues

Just a reminder that we are supporting Interfaith and their clients by collecting cans of soups. Their soup closet has been depleted, and people and groups depend on them. We will be collecting soup right up to Souper-bowl Sunday (February 9, 2025).

Just think about how many people we could feed, if everyone who is a football fan donated one or two cans of soup. Please look for the box that is placed near the baptismal font. Thank you in advance for your help.

Samaritan Team

The Samaritan Team has had a busy year! We have many Ministries under our “umbrella”, and several of them are highlighted in articles already in this newsletter: the Sack Lunch Sunday project; the Advent Giving Tree; our Haven House/Turk Center Dinners; The Little Free Pantry; and collecting Hygiene Items for ICS, which we are doing jointly with the Daughters of the King. All these are on-going ministries that have come out of the collective efforts of the Samaritan Team. We are grateful to all of our Team, and all of Trinity, for supporting these Ministries and making them all a success. And we are looking forward to another successful year of service and outreach in 2025.

If you’d like to be part of planning, leading or taking part in Ministry projects with us, come join in the fun! Our Trinity Samaritan Team welcomes anyone with an interest or ideas for sharing Christ’s love through outreach and service ministries in our community. We meet on the third Sunday of each month, right after church in the Dove Library. You can just show up, or you can get in touch with Helen or Jan to find out more. Our contact info is at the end of this article.

Our next meeting will be Sunday, December 15th. We have a special guest presenter planned for this meeting, who will come talk to our Samaritan Team about the Rotational Shelter Network. The interfaith rotational shelter is back in action after taking a hiatus during the pandemic. We are looking at becoming a Support Congregation for the Rotational Shelter. Our first opportunity to participate may come as early as next February, so we’ll be looking for Trinity volunteers. Trinity was always an integral part of the North County Rotational Shelter in the past. So, we are excited to hear more and to see how we might be able to participate in supporting the Rotational Shelter once again. Come join us and find out more yourself!

We have a lot of other exciting new project possibilities on the horizon, and we’re always looking for other opportunities to minister to and serve our community, and to bring Christ’s love to our neighbors. Come see what it’s all about! After all ... we are ALL Samaritans.

Sack Lunch Sunday

Every month, the Samaritan team plans to make 100 sack lunches for Interfaith Community Services (ICS). On November 3rd, the Sack Lunch team made 120 lunches. I’m told this is one more than in October.

The production line is getting better every month. A few people came in early to set up the production line and pre-packed many lunch bags with a granola bar, a mandarin orange, and a small bottle of water. After church and coffee, eight sandwich makers started making PB&J sandwiches. As soon as a sandwich was done, a runner placed the sandwich in a plastic, zippered sandwich bag, and then added it to the lunch sack along with chips. Finally, the lunch sacks are placed in milk crates we picked up on Saturday from

ICS. Then it is time to clean up and take the milk crates back to ICS.

We are grateful for those who donate supplies such as peanut butter, strawberry jam, bread, mandarin oranges, granola bars and monetary contributions for stock items like the lunch sacks, water, and chips. We are also grateful and appreciative to those who chose to spend their time to make Sack Lunch Sunday happen.

Please join us December 8th for the next Sack Lunch Sunday. Sign-up sheets will be available December 1st.

Community Garden

Seven Hundred Twenty-Five Dollars and Twenty-three Cents ($725.23). That's the total receipts from our parking lot sale held on Nov. 2 from 8:00am to 1:00pm. We advertised the event on 8 websites and had a steady stream of buyers. The goal was to raise about $1,000.00 and rumor has it that there will be a donation to bring our total to that amount. I wish to thank the following Trinity families for their time and generous giving of all their sale proceeds to our garden project; Petey Dietz, Fran Much , Cathy Smullen, Mary Glass, Suzan Reiner, Cindy Kratz, Sandra Scott, Kim Billman, Lynda Pflueger, Diane Olander, Celena Lopes, Ruth Barry and Sara Picolleli.

Our quilt "Opportunity Drawing" is still ongoing and we will be adding a 50-50 guessing game in the next two weeks for those of you who do not necessarily want to purchase tickets to win a quilt but want to participate. It works as follows; there is one specific quilt that has lots of squares, we are asking for guesses as to how many squares are in that quilt (yes, we've counted them). Each guess costs $5.00 and everyone's guess goes into a jar. The person who guesses the closest to the actual number of squares gets 50% of the proceeds. WinWin! Let's have fun with this one!! Again, all proceeds benefit our community garden ministry.

By the time you receive this newsletter the cement slab will have been poured in the garden and will be curing. The contractor, Coast-Pro Builders started on Monday November 11 @ 8:00am. Thanks to everyone who helped fund this project to make our garden the place to be.

The next phase, after the concrete has cured, will be the actual building of the gazebo and placing it on the pad. If you would be interested in participating in our "Gazebo Raising" please contact Ron Smith our Warden. Many hands make projects easier. Also, if you have experience in building a pre-fab gazebo let Ron know as well.

A committee has been put together consisting of Mary Glass, Cathy Smullen and Sandra Scott to revamp, streamline and add new rules to our gardener contracts for 2025. This project is very needed and hopefully we will have it in English and Spanish ready for our Spring gardening season.

We will also be billing for 2025 dues in December for the 2025 growing season. We still have a few in-ground plots, 1 garden table and several garden boxes available. Our fees are increasing from $45.00 to $50.00 to cover increased expenses and assist with other improvements to our garden. The Toymakers are making new plot markers for our in-ground plots and those should be ready by the first of the year.

If you are interested in any aspect of this wonderful ministry, please contact Sandra Scott at 858-602-7639. We can always use help!

Do You Know Lynda Pflueger??

I was born in Edmond, Oklahoma, a small town near Oklahoma City. The hospital was located above the town's movie theater. I used to tease my dad that he was watching a movie while I was being born. He assured me he was not. He was pacing outside of the delivery room for hours like any normal father to be.

Economically it was not a good time in Oklahoma. Even though we didn't live in the dust bowl, jobs were hard to find. When I was fourteen months old my parents decided to join my mother's family in San Diego. Within two days my dad had a job as a welder at the Campbell Shipyard and my mother as a bookkeeper.

When I was three years old my father went through the police academy and became an officer. He bought a house in Clairmont and was the first person to get a phone due to his job. I graduated from Clairmont High School and then San Diego State College. Before graduating, I married my husband, Jon Pflueger. We had gone to high school together but didn't fall in love until we were in college.

After his freshman year, Jon joined the Navy due to the draft. His father did not want him to be a foot soldier in Vietnam. He became an electronic technician. I was studying nutrition and business and wanted to be a dietitian. But to do an internship, I had to leave the state for eighteen months. Jon had just been stationed at home and I didn't want to leave him. I decided to focus my career on business.

My first professional job was as Director of the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Center. The center was a Title VII meal program for senior citizens. It also included social services. The average participant was 80 years old. While running the Nutrition Center I gave birth to my daughter Karen Lynn. I didn't announce my pregnancy at first. One day one of my gentleman participants asked if I was expecting. I told him no; I was hiding my Christmas Presents and pointed to my stomach. In a short time, half of the dining hall was laughing. It was time for me to make the announcement. After ten years I left the center.

I took a year off and then went to work for UCSD. Over time I climbed from an administrative assistant to a senior analyst. For the last fifteen years I worked for the Housing Dining and Hospitality Division. I worked with a great group of people, but it could get a little tricky. Like when I had to tell a division chief in charge of maintenance our director wouldn't approve his budget.

After almost thirty years, the death of my husband and father within seven months I decided to retire from the University. I gave six months' notice and volunteered to train my replacement. On April 30, 2012, the department gave me a big retirement party. All the division chiefs I had worked with on their budgets over the years attended my party. The maintenance chief bought me flowers.

I was glad I retired when I did. Two years later my grandchildren started to arrive. First Elizebeth in 2014 and then Emmett in 2016. I was able to take care of them until they went to school. During that time, I discovered Trinity.

Although I was raised Episcopalian, I attended the Baptist church with my husband. After he died, I wanted to go back to my original church. I heard a lot about Trinity and Mother Meg. One day I arrived in the church office and told Suzan I was an Episcopalian looking for a new home. After a look of surprise, Suzan smiled and gave me a church tour. The following Sunday I attended church and was greeted by Dennis, signed the newcomer book, and I sat near the front of the church. After the service Dennis made sure I met Mother Meg and guided me into the parish hall for coffee hour. Everyone was friendly. Before I left church that day, I felt I had found my church home, and I had.

Do You Know Lynda Pflueger?? (con't)

One of my most rewarding times at Trinity was helping establish the Sunday School. We are in our third year and just held a children's service with Father Tom this month. To my delight we also had a successful Vacation Bible School this summer. I am also grateful to have served on the vestry while we were searching for our next rector. The vestry worked long and hard to keep things going and then a miracle happened. We found Father Tom Callard (or maybe he found us).

Along with my day jobs, I published nine young adult biographies. When my publisher Enslow, a library press, went out of business my copywrites were returned to me and I published two of my books on Amazon. The books are about George Eastman of Kodak and Thomas Nast the political cartoonist. I am also and avid watercolorist, enjoy reading, and studying the bible.

Congratulations to Sandy Dabasinskas

Every year Bishop Susan awards one member of a parish an award called the "Servant Ministry Award". This award is given in recognition of their outstanding service. Trinity nominated Sandy Dabasinskas because of the countless ways she has helped and supported people in a variety of ministries for many years. Sandy is a blessing to the church and to the world. Congratulations Sandy!

Thank You For All That You Do!!

How To Have Conversations With People Who Disagree With You

Use these questions to guide your cross-partisan conversations:

"Which life experiences have shaped your views?"

"Imagine for a moment that you got what you wanted in regard to this issue. How would your life change?"

"For those who disagree with you, what would you like them to understand about you?"

"What do you want to understand about those with whom you disagree?"

"Why is this personally important to you?"

Haven/Turk Center House Dinner Ministry

It's hard to believe, but Advent is here (at least by the time this is published), and we are fast approaching the beautiful Christmas Season. And that also means the end of 2024 is soon behind!

Let's reflect a little on the great year we've had in this Ministry ...

We've carried on "rolling with the changes" that ICS has continued to make through the year at the Haven House/Turk Center shelter.

Late in 2023, we expanded our service by signing up to bring dessert to every dinner that we serve to the residents of Haven House/Turk Center. I think we are one of the few groups that do this "extra" when they volunteer. You would not believe how the eyes and faces of the residents light up when they hear that we have a yummy dessert that night. There are always exclamations of "We're having cheesecake?!" or "That looks so good!" or "We love it when you guys come to volunteer. You always have something good!". Whatever dessert we bring – cheesecake with cherry topping, or some type of delicious pie with whipped cream, or whatever it is – the shelter residents are always delighted to have this little extra pleasure with their meal.

And we are always delighted for a couple of other reasons. One is that we have a wonderful group of women who routinely cover providing the desserts for us. They "just do it", I don't even have to ask. If they see we are in need of a dessert for a particular night we are serving, they make it happen. It's a joy for me to go to the Parish Hall refrigerator on dinner evenings and retrieve four or five luscious desserts, just waiting for a trip to the Turk Center to accompany the meal. A thousand thanks to Gail Human, Jana Green, Molly Smith, and Petey Dietz for making dessert happen on a regular basis this year. You ladies are our angels!

And in addition to these four women, we have generous donors who have supported our ministry financially throughout this year, providing funds that allow us to purchase desserts for our dinners. This means we can provide dessert without having to always rely on our "Four Angels". These donors have all asked to remain anonymous, so I won't put their names here. They all know who they are. And we know they are also our "angels". They make our Ministry continue to work smoothly. By their donations, they allow us to continue to be Christ's hands and feet, representing His love, and the love of the people of Trinity, for our neighbors who are without homes. We are enormously grateful to our donors, and we thank them for everything their generosity enables us to do.

Lastly, I couldn't reflect on the year we've had without thanking all the many folks who have volunteered their time to come serve the dinner at Haven House/Turk Center. There are too many people to name here individually. But I want to send a huge "thank you" to everyone who has volunteered this year. These folks are truly what makes the Ministry possible. Our volunteers give so much by being there and serving and interacting with the shelter residents. I think our volunteers themselves also get something special from the experience of being there. Many of them have told me so. A huge THANK YOU to all our volunteers. We truly cannot do this without YOU!

Speaking of stepping up and signing up, it's time to do that for the December dates we have at Haven House/Turk Center. We have the second and last Thursdays of the month as our nights to cover the dinner service and bring dessert at The Turk Center. For December, we serve dinner on December 12th and December 26th – Boxing Day! That date should be a lot of fun. So, mark your calendars for those two dates, and think about the possibility of volunteering! We need five or six volunteers at each of our designated dinner nights, twice a month. Our volunteers need to arrive at the dining hall at the Turk Center by 4:00pm on our appointed day to help the ICS staff get ready for dinner. Dinner starts at 4:30pm and goes until about 5:15pm or so. We are typically done and headed home by about 5:30 PM. It is easy, fun, and so rewarding. Watch for the sign-up email comes out about 5-7 days prior to the dinner date.

Haven/Turk Center House Dinner (con't)

We would love to have new volunteers take part, so think about whether this sounds good to you. But in order even think about taking part, you have to be on the email distribution for the sign-up. If you aren't, and think you might be interested, get in touch with me and I will add your name to the distribution. Getting the email doesn't obligate you, it just gives you the chance to keep in touch with what's going on in this Ministry, and it gives you the option to decide if you want to join in!

I am forever thankful for all the Trinity family who have volunteered so readily supported this Ministry for the past seven-plus years. May you all have a peaceful and blessed Christmas season.

Peace and blessings,

Trinity ToyMakers Do It Again!

These are some of the Trinity Toymakers. Christmas is coning and all of the Toymakers have been working hard for many months to make hundreds of handcrafted wooden toys which will be given to children in need. Wow, what dedication!

A special thank you also to the Chief Elf, Joe Stanford. You definitely have a servant heart and we thank you!

Matthew 18

And he said: "I tell you the truth, unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven. Therefore, whoever humbles himself like this child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. And whoever welcomes a little child like this in my name welcomes me."

Congratulations!!

Diocesan Convention 2024

Our diocesan family gathered at Convention in November for an inspiring weekend at St. Margaret's in Palm Desert. Joe Stanford and Diane Sharpe attended as Trinity's delegates. Fr. Tom attended as well. Joe shared some of the Trinity toys that Toymakers are preparing to be distributed this December. He said they were very well received and people had lots of questions about this ministry. Diane said she really enjoyed representing Trinity and that she has a much better understanding of the broader church after meeting so many clergy and lay leaders from across the diocese. While the Diocesan Convention is, at its core, the annual business meeting of the Episcopal Diocese of San Diego, it also was a time of joy, fellowship and worship.

Thank you Joe and Diane for making the time to attend this very important weekend. Trinity was well represented!!

Vestry Update

Trinity's Vestry met on November 12th at the Trinity office. Bishop Susan joined online for the first half of the meeting as part of her annual visitation. She asked us what was exciting at Trinity, and what our challenges were. People said they were excited about Father Tom, among other things. The big challenge was the projected budget deficit, which was around $50,000 but is expected to go down by the annual meeting in December.

It was decided that a special committee be formed to address the deficit. The plans for that are in the works.

The Vestry also voted to move their meetings to the 3rd Tuesday of the month, which gives the Treasurer more time to make bank reconciliations.

As of November 24, Christ the King Sunday, Trinity has received $217,880 in pledges from 59 individuals and families. We are still expecting pledges from several people who have pledged in the past. Please make your pledge for 2025 this month. We have had 11 people and families pledge to Trinity for the first time this year!
